

You can help researchers!

We are currently recruiting participants to the DPUK Trials Delivery Framework Register – a national repository of people who are interested in taking part in brain health and dementia research.

Join the Register today to inform researchers of your interest and availability to take part in new studies on dementia. Your involvement will play a crucial role in advancing the understanding of dementia and developing treatments, with the ultimate aim of preventing dementia.

What will this do?

- Develop a register for visitors to brain health and memory clinics and GP surgeries
- Empower patients to actively participate in brain health and dementia research
- Expand understanding of dementia to provide critical insights to advance potential therapeutic treatments and cures
- Give doctors the highest quality information to make more accurate and earlier diagnoses

How will this help?

- Enhance medical care and diagnosis
- Empower participants to shape the landscape of brain health and dementia research and understanding
- Enable future studies and clinical trials to understand and develop new treatments
- Medical information that cannot be traced to you will be made available to researchers for approved scientific purposes to ensure ethical and responsible use of data
